Sylvia Browne's Clock - Update

The Clock is ticking - again....

The new Sylvia Browne Clock is placed here so that interested readers can follow an ongoing situation. The original clock started March 6th, and ran 181 days. Then Sylvia agreed, on September 3rd, to the suggested protocol for a definitive test of her claimed powers, for the JREF million-dollar prize.

The figure you will see on this new clock, is the number of days that have passed since she accepted this latest step in the procedure. We still have a variety of very well-qualified savants, here and abroad, who are willing to participate. We have major centers of learning and a prominent parapsychologist on tap, ready and willing to design, supervise, and conduct proper tests of her ability.

Stay tuned.

It has been 1269 days since Ms. Browne publicly accepted this latest phase of the challenge.
